

TOOWOOMBA CITY LIBRARY

is based in the heart of South East Queensland, Australia. Like most local libraries, it faces the challenge of staying relevant in today's advancing tech-savvy society.

Toowoomba City Library is goaled on providing front line solutions to individuals and families. Most recently, leading staff members chose a Samsung SUR40 with a range of nsquared multi-user software to make the library an engaging place for local community members to gather.

Discovering information on the table at
Toowoomba City Library

The digital table space is constantly evolving because the librarians take full advantage of the nsquared admin tool to keep content fresh and relevant.

With easy to change content, the software caters to people from a variety of age groups and backgrounds, and local members can come together at the digital table to learn about library programmes and initiatives. There are also opportunities to put together a collage of personal photos or simply play a fun game with other library visitors.

"The nsquared digital table solution has become a key asset of the Toowoomba City Library and is fostering a new form of engaging, visual learning within our community."

- Karen Green, Electronic Services Library and Cultural Services.